DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 & 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP-A-58-33075. The said Japanese Patent discloses a vapor compression cycle comprising: a first & second evaporator, a compressor, a switching device and decompression units (as disclosed in specification – see page 1-2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 58-33075 in view Nishida et al (6,092,379). Nishida discloses the claimed invention as stated above but lack a supercritical fluid such as carbon dioxide. Nishida teaches the utilization of carbon dioxide as a refrigerant. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize carbon dioxide as taught by Nishida because of its supercritical nature thereby allowing system to operate at high pressure & temperature.

Art Unit: 3744

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10-16 are allowed over the prior art of record.

Claims 3-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
